BY TASTE OF RENO STAFF

Cactus Creek Prime Steakhouse ranks among the handful of restaurants in the region to serve only 100 percent USDA Prime grade beef. The restaurant has been voted Best of Nevada by Nevada Magazine readers for the past four years. This commitment to food quality and service is found in Cactus Creek's Uncorked & On Tap Dinner Series.

The series annually features four wine dinners and two beer dinners. Each wine dinner showcases five courses prepared by the chef and his culinary team, courses that are paired with pours from some of the finest wineries on the West Coast. Beer dinners feature four courses carefully paired with craft beer. The wine and beer dinners are customer favorites. Executive chef Chris Romm discussed these evenings of excellence.

YOUR UNCORKED & ON TAP DINNER SERIES ALWAYS IS SOLD OUT. WHY SO POPULAR?

Beyond the food and wine or beer, we make the dinners entertaining and enjoyable. They're never stuffy, and no one leaves hungry. For our wine dinners, we also strive to bring in a host who is a winemaker, vintner or someone who is "emotionally attached" to the grape and ground. We all are very proud that our wine dinners have sold out since they began nine years ago.

WHAT ARE SOME OF THE WINERIES YOU'VE FEATURED AT THE DINNERS?

We've been fortunate to have respected wineries like Duckhorn, Silver Oak, Ferrari-Carano, Caymus, Rombauer, Nickel & Nickel, Joseph Phelps, Mondavi, Cakebread, Chateau Montelena, ZD, Frank Family and Justin. It literally is a Who's Who of West Coast wineries.

WHO ARE SOME OF THE WINEMAKERS YOU'VE HAD AT YOUR DINNERS?

We have been honored to have renowned winemakers like K.R. Rombauer, Dan Duckhorn, Rosa Lee deLeuze of ZD, and Robert Mondavi Jr. give us behind-the-scenes stories about their respective wineries. It really is a treat.
